

Undergraduate & Graduate Social Work Programs

Seminars in Practicum Instruction 2024-2025

This Seminar in Practicum Instruction (SIPI) series of six 3-hour sessions is designed for practicum instructors of undergraduate and graduate social work students. Each session will be a blend of lecture, discussion, interactive exercises, guest speakers, and time for participants to present issues, questions and/or concerns arising from the supervisory relationship.

Practicum instructors who have not yet completed the SIPI course at WCU or another accredited social work program are expected to attend. However, ALL social work practicum instructors are invited and welcome to attend regardless of years of service or the number of students previously supervised.

EARN UP TO 18 Continuing Education Credits (if you attend all 6 sessions)

Attend at least nine hours (three full sessions) to receive CE certificates provided at the end of the series. Three ethics CEs will be provided to those that attend the Jan 10th session and complete the series.

All Sessions are offered via Zoom. There is no cost for these courses.

^{}The name of this course has changed from Seminars in Field Instruction (SIFI) to Seminars in Practicum Instruction (SIPI), as our departments transition from the word "field" to "practicum". This decision is made from a commitment to implementing anti-oppressive practices and engaging in anti-racism work by ceasing the use of language that could be considered anti-Black or anti-immigrant.
